Professor Goldart,
All Souls College,
Oxford, England.

My dear Sir:

Professor Hazen has been communicating with you on various occasions during the summer in the hope that by your kind offices we might be able to secure an occupant for the Chair of Roman Law and Jurisprudence made vacant by the death of Professor Lefroy.

I wish to thank you very sincerely for the great pains that you have taken to endeavour of help us in this matter. In writing to you at first we did not expect that we should find it necessary to ask you to do so much for us, and we are fully conscious of the kindness that you have shown. I hope that Mr. Black will be able to come to help us during the winter even if we shall not appoint him permanently to the position.

I am enclosing to you an order for £2, 12s. which I hope will cover the expense to which you have been put in sending to us.

With kind regards and renewed thanks, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
